Chemeketa has a changing collection of electronic books on technical subjects on a platform called Safari. Safari books are in the library search:

When you click on the View It tab will see a link to the book:

Clicking “view full text” will take you into the Safari platform.

The initial Safari page has a description of the book. Click Start Reading to open the book.

If asked for a user name and password, use your My Chemeketa login information.
The main part of the page will show the pages of the book.

The table of contents at left lets you skip to a subject of interest by clicking on a particular chapter or section.

At the top of the page, at the right, you will see controls for manipulating the page image in various ways. Arrows let you page forward or back in the book.
